

Is global alliance feasible to remove the air pollution of east Asia?

Session 3: Is global alliance feasible to remove the air pollution of east Asia?

1. Set up the goal for removing the world's air pollution (Sox, NOx, PD etc) and enhance the value of the air resource by 20XX, and co-own this goal landing between Japan and China.
2. To achieve the goal landing, make “the Sustainable Global Alliance against the Air Pollution” between Japan and China as a world forefront.
3. Under this Alliance, build an international innovation engine, which resonantly shares the human value, as well as specifies the sources of pollution and simulates various air pollutions for the long-term future.
4. Design the sustainable system to perform the concurrent observation / evaluation for the progress of these action plans.