

Sebastian Reich

Professor,
Department of Mathematics,
University of Potsdam

Education

Ph. D in electrical engineering from the Technical University of Dresden

Research area and interests

1. Numerical analysis
2. Data assimilation
3. Bayesian inference

Professional Career

- Professor, Department of Mathematics, University of Potsdam, Germany (2004-Present)
- Lecturer, University of Surrey (1998-2000)
- Professor, Imperial College London (2001-2004)
- Spokesperson, Collaborative Research Centre SFB 1294 Data Assimilation (2017-2024)
- Editor-in-chief, SIAM/ASA Journal on Uncertainty Quantification (2021-Present)

Awards, Scholarship and Fellowship

- SIAM Fellow Class (2019)
- Dahlquist Prize, American Society of Applied Mathematics (2003)